THE COVER Peter lifted the painting from its makeshift tripod on the table. White Fang His mind asked as he looked at brush strokes in shades of greys and white that looked like fur. From a distance it looked like an animal; like a wolf or dog, but close up it looked different. What would be an eye made it difficult to know for sure. The eye was odd. Peter studied it and then realized that the glare of light in the eye took on a definite form and shape. It looked like it was someone dancing, a girl. Yes. Peter thought, looking at it closely. Thats her long hair flowing behind her in the wind. The sentence caused him to flash the image of Jeneil on the beach the first time he saw her. He touched the glare on the painting gently with the tips of his fingers. Thats how she looked. His heart skipped a beat. He studied the painting for a name even turning it over and checking the back of it. There wasnt one. As he turned the canvas to the painted side again, the eye suddenly looked Asian to him. Soul His mind questioned. Is someone painting soul. He asked himself. The woman in charge of the table joined him. Ill take this one. Peter said, taking out his wallet. Isnt that odd I felt the eye looked Asian and here you are buying it. I love art and sometimes I wish paintings could talk. What a fascinating story they could tell. I know what you mean. Peter replied, wondering about this new painting of White Fang, a girl dancing in the wind, and soul. Shes...
