

DOWNLOAD PDF

Blaming No One: Blog Postings on Arts, Letters, Policy (Paperback)

By Dan Whitman

New Academia Publishing, LLC, United States, 2012. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 226 x 150 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. This collection of published blog postings from a retired U.S. Foreign Service officer offers a perspective challenging facile suppositions, and notes historic moments of interest for the general reader. This book is a series of reflections at the point of retirement from the U.S. Foreign Service. The postings, all colored by the author's experience, include short essays on the following themes: personal anecdote, people/profiles, the Foreign Policy seen by a mid-level official, human nature, government functions, and other (music, immigration, condominium rules on dog comportment.). The collection is marked by a tone of light humor and social/institutional criticism. The book should serve as an easy read, in short segments. At the same time, the full text, printed in chronological order of their publication dates, will give a perspective which questions and challenges facile suppositions, and notes historic moments of interest for the general reader. Whitman's prose reflects the concrete (it reminds me of light on water) and yet it suggests in subtle ways his profound thoughts and feelings about the human condition, based...

READ ONLINE

[ 8.12 MB ]

Reviews

Thorough manual for publication fanatics. It is actually really intriguing through reading through period of time. Its been written in an remarkably simple way and is particularly only after i finished reading through this book in which actually transformed me, change the way i think.

-- Morris Schultz

Merely no phrases to describe. It really is really intriguing through reading time. I am happy to tell you that this is basically the greatest book i have go through in my own lifestyle and might be the greatest book for ever.

-- Kattie Wunsch